

Communiqué

PURCHASE RIGHT NOTICE ROYAL CANADIAN MINT

CANADIAN SILVER RESERVES
RÉSERVE D'ARGENT CANADIENNE

Holders of record of the Royal Canadian Mint's Silver Exchange-Traded Receipts ("ETRs") on September 9, 2014 have the right to acquire additional ETRs on September 18, 2014 by exercising the 2014 purchase right (the "Purchase Right") that is a term of each ETR. Purchase Rights will not separate or trade separately from the ETRs and unexercised Purchase Rights will expire. That means holders of ETRs may not sell or transfer their Purchase Rights.

Please consult your investment advisor or other financial advisor as to how your Purchase Rights may be exercised, in whole or in part. They expire at 5:00 pm EDT on September 18, 2014 and your advisor may have an earlier deadline for receipt of a completed exercise form.

Set out below is information regarding the Purchase Rights and how they may be exercised.

Record Date:	September 9, 2014.
Exercise Date:	September 18, 2014.
Exercise Price:	C$20.00 per Purchase Right which entitles the holder to a number of ETRs determined based on the price of silver on the Bullion Purchase Date and the Expenses incurred in connection with the Purchase Right, which will not exceed C$0.40 per Purchase Right.
Ratio Basis:	The Ratio Basis, being the number of ETRs that will be issued per Purchase Right exercised, is determined by taking the Exercise Price of C$20.00 per Purchase Right exercised, subtracting Expenses (capped at C$0.40 per C$20.00), and applying that amount to purchase silver Bullion. Assuming a Bullion Purchase Date of September 19, 2014, one ETR will be issued for every 0.6143302 troy ounces of silver purchased.
(ETRs Per Purchase Right)

For example, assuming a silver price of C$21.00 per troy ounce and the maximum Expenses of C$0.40 per C$20.00, 1.5193 new ETRs would be issued for each Purchase Right exercised implying a purchase price of $13.16 per ETR issued pursuant to each exercised Purchase Right. Similarly, a silver price of C$22.00 per troy ounce would result in 1.4502 new ETRs being issued for each Purchase Right exercised, implying a purchase price of $13.79 per ETR issued pursuant to each exercised Purchase Right.

Bullion Purchase Date: The Bullion Purchase Date will be September 19, 2014 or such other date as soon as practicable thereafter on which silver purchase agreements to acquire silver bullion on behalf of ETR holders exercising Purchase Rights are executed.

Issue Date: ETRs issued pursuant to the exercise of Purchase Rights will be issued on the settlement date under the silver purchase agreements entered into on the Bullion Purchase Date.

Purchase Right: Each ETR entitles its holder the right to acquire, at an exercise price of C$20.00, (as summarised above) the number of additional ETRs equal to:

$C$20.00 \div [(A \times B) + C]$ where:

A is the Canadian dollar equivalent of the silver spot rate on the Bullion Purchase Date stipulated in silver purchase agreements entered into on the Bullion Purchase Date;

B is the Per ETR Entitlement to Silver on the Bullion Purchase Date (or 0.6143302 of one troy ounce, assuming a Bullion Purchase Date of September 19, 2014); and

C is the Mint's out-of-pocket expenses incurred in connection with the Purchase Right divided by the number of ETRs issued on the exercise of Purchase Rights (such expenses not to exceed C$0.40 per exercised Purchase Right).

Holders of ETRs who are U.S. persons may not exercise Purchase Rights.

Expenses: An amount estimated to be C$0.40 per exercised Purchase Right (and not to exceed C$0.40 per exercised Purchase Right) will be deducted from the aggregate amount paid by ETR holders who exercise their Purchase Rights and will be paid to the Mint as reimbursement for its out-of-pocket expenses incurred in connection with the Purchase Right. The amount of reimbursable out-of-pocket expenses will be determined and posted at www.reserves.mint.ca on or before the Bullion Purchase Date. Out-of-pocket expenses consist of soliciting dealer fees, processing agent fees, silver purchase expenses, financial advisory fees, printing and communications costs and legal fees.

Soliciting Dealers: TD Securities Inc. and National Bank Financial Inc. have been retained as Dealer Managers to form a soliciting dealer group to solicit the exercise of Purchase Rights by ETR holders.

The Mint has agreed to pay the Dealer Managers C$0.30 per exercised Purchase Right (subject to a minimum of C$150 and a maximum of C$5,000 per retail account) and a management fee of C$100,000 subject to the terms and conditions of a soliciting dealer agreement dated August 29, 2014 between the Mint and the Dealer Managers.

Processing Agent: Computershare Investor Services, Inc. The Processing Agent will receive all completed exercise forms.

Purchase Right Exercise Form: To exercise a Purchase Right, an ETR holder must deliver to its broker a completed Purchase Right Exercise Form, or instruct its broker to complete and deliver on its behalf a Purchase Right Exercise Form, together with payment equal to the product of the Exercise Price and the number of Purchase Rights such ETR holder intends to exercise. The form of Purchase Right Exercise Form is available on the Canadian Silver Reserves website at www.reserves.mint.ca.

ETR holders who are CDS participants and hold ETRs on behalf of other ETR holders and/or brokers must forward on their behalf an exercise form representing all of their completed Purchase Right Exercise Forms and payments to the Processing Agent not later than 5:00 pm Toronto time on the Exercise Date. ETR holders and/or their brokers should consult their respective CDS participants regarding their CDS participant's deadlines or requirements independent of those described herein.

Fractional ETRs: In no event will fractional ETRs be issued to ETR holders. Any portion of an ETR holder's payment that would result in a fractional ETR if applied to the purchase of silver on the Bullion Purchase Date will be withheld and the Mint will cause such cash to be returned to the ETR holder no later than 10 business days after the Bullion Purchase Date.

Listing: The Toronto Stock Exchange (the "TSX") has conditionally approved the listing of the ETRs issuable upon the exercise of Purchase Rights.

Additional details regarding the Purchase Right, the ETRs and the Mint, including risk factors relevant to an investment in ETRs, are contained in the Amended and Restated Information Statement dated October 29, 2012 that can be accessed at www.sedar.com or www.reserves.mint.ca.

You must act before 5:00 pm EDT on September 18, 2014 or the Purchase Right will expire.

ANSWERS TO FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

How many new ETRs do I buy per Purchase Right that I exercise – what is my ratio basis?

The number of ETRs that you will be issued per Purchase Right that you exercise will depend on the silver price on the Bullion Purchase Date and the expenses incurred by the Mint in connection with the Purchase Right, which will not exceed C$0.40 per exercised Purchase Right. For example:

- Assuming a silver price of C$21.00 per troy ounce and expenses of C$0.40 per C$20.00, the ratio basis would be 1.5193 new ETRs for each Purchase Right exercised.
- Assuming a silver price of C$22.00 per troy ounce and Expenses of C$0.40 per $20.00, the ratio basis would be 1.4502 new ETRs for each Purchase Right exercised.

Are there any restrictions on the number of Purchase Rights I may exercise?

Each investor can decide to exercise as many or as few as he or she chooses. The maximum number of Purchase Rights you can exercise is equal to the total number of ETRs you own on the Record Date.

Why would I exercise a Purchase Right?

It would be beneficial to exercise a Purchase Right if an ETR holder wanted to acquire additional silver and believed silver could be acquired on more favourable terms through the exercise of a Purchase Right than through the purchase of ETRs on the TSX. Assuming that the ETRs trade at a premium to the net asset value per ETR, if an ETR holder believes that the premium plus the trade execution expenses would exceed the costs associated with the exercise of the Purchase Right, it would be advantageous to acquire additional ETRs through the exercise of the Purchase Right rather than on the TSX.

Expressed another way, exercising a Purchase Right permits an ETR holder to purchase additional ETRs at the net asset value per ETR plus the Mint's related out-of-pocket expenses on a per ETR basis, which may be less than the cost of purchasing an ETR on the TSX on the Bullion Purchase Date.

On August 27, 2014, the closing price of the ETRs on the TSX was C$12.73 and the net asset value per ETR (calculated on the basis of the London silver price) was C$12.89, representing a discount of 1.2%. The average daily discount of the ETRs was 0.63% during the period since the initial public offering of the ETRs on November 5, 2012 and was 1.46% during the previous 20 trading days on the TSX.

What are the costs to me of exercising Purchase Rights?

The greater the demand for ETRs through the Purchase Right, the lower the per ETR cost to exercise each Purchase Right.

It is estimated that C$0.40 (and in any event not more than C$0.40) will be deducted from the C$20.00 Exercise Price for each Purchase Right exercised to cover the out-of-pocket expenses of the Mint incurred in connection with the exercise of Purchase Rights and the resulting issuance of the ETRs. The amount of reimbursable out-of-pocket expenses will be determined and posted at www.reserves.mint.ca on or before the Bullion Purchase Date. These expenses consist of soliciting dealer fees, processing agent fees, silver purchase expenses, financial advisory fees, printing and communication costs and legal fees.

Will the cost of exercising the Purchase Right increase if there is significant demand?

No. The greater the demand for ETRs through the Purchase Right, the lower the per ETR cost to exercise each Purchase Right.

In contrast, when purchasing ETRs on the TSX, the trading price of ETRs relative to the price of silver is determined by the supply and demand for ETRs. The higher the demand is for ETRs, the higher the premium to net asset value will be. Large orders or a large number of small orders are likely to increase the premium when purchasing on the TSX.

The purchase price of ETRs acquired through the exercise of the Purchase Right will not increase with demand. Accordingly, if the exercise of the Purchase Right results in large purchases and/or a large number of small purchases of ETRs, it will not have the effect of increasing the purchase price for exercising ETR holders.

If I elect not to exercise any Purchase Rights will my ETR holdings be diluted?

No. The issuance of additional ETRs pursuant to the exercise of Purchase Rights will have no impact on the amount of silver bullion underlying each outstanding ETR (also known as the Per ETR Entitlement to Silver). However, the issuance could reduce the premium at which the ETRs trade on the TSX. If the effective price per ETR acquired pursuant to the exercise of the Purchase Right is below the trading price of the ETRs on the TSX at the Exercise Date, this may have the effect of lowering the trading price of ETRs immediately thereafter and therefore decreasing the premium.

Will I be provided any other disclosure document in connection with the Purchase Rights?

No. For additional information regarding the Purchase Rights, the ETRs and the Mint, ETR holders should refer to the Amended and Restated Information Statement dated October 29, 2012 and the Silver ETR Certificate dated September 20, 2013, each of which can be accessed at www.sedar.com or www.reserves.mint.ca.

Will ETRs issued pursuant to the Purchase Right differ in any way from other ETRs?

No. The ETRs issued pursuant to the exercise of Purchase Rights will be identical to, and fully fungible with, all other outstanding ETRs. All ETRs issued pursuant to the exercise of the Purchase Right will have the same entitlement to silver as other outstanding ETRs and will be freely-tradeable and listed on the TSX.

Is this the final opportunity to take advantage of a Purchase Right?

Yes. This is the final Purchase Right. The first Purchase Right was in September 2013.

Who can I contact if I have additional questions regarding the Purchase Rights?

ETR holders should contact their investment advisor or financial advisor if they have questions regarding the exercise of their Purchase Rights. Information about the Purchase Rights may also be obtained from the Mint at 1.866.677.1477 or reserves@mint.ca or Computershare Investor Services Inc., the processing agent for the Purchaser Rights, at 1.800.564.6253 or corporateactions@computershare.com.